QUARTERLY KEY PERFORMANCE DRIVERS

	Stocks	Sectors	Countries
HELPED	SBM Offshore NV	Industrials (Stock Selection)	United Kingdom (Stock Selection, Overweight)
	ICON Plc	Utilities (Stock Selection)	Ireland (Stock Selection)
	Rolls-Royce Holdings plc	Energy (Stock Selection, Overweight)	Germany (Stock Selection)
HURT	Smith & Nephew PLC	Health Care (Stock Selection)	China (Overweight)
	Prosus N.V. Class N	Consumer Discretionary (Overweight)	Belgium (Stock Selection)
	Fagron SA	—	Denmark (Lack of Exposure)

- SBM Offshore is a Netherlands-based company that leases FPSOs (floating production storage and offloading vessels) to large oil companies. We think most of the value of the shares is in the predefined cash flows associated with the FPSO lease fleet. The company also has a turnkey business, which builds new FPSOs for sale and for lease. Its shares rose after reporting strong pipeline growth and announcing a share repurchase program.

1. All holdings are subject to change. Holdings of the same issuers have been combined.
2. Percentage may not equal 100% due to rounding. All holdings are subject to change.
3. Net Returns (NR) include income net of tax withholding when dividends are paid.

- UK aerospace engineering firm Rolls-Royce surged late in the quarter as a combination of stock-specific news (contract wins and an asset disposal), a healthy value rebound, and the imminent reopening of international air travel following COVID restrictions all created strong tailwinds. The company's management has an aggressive plan to cut costs and shed non-core assets and expects to turn free cash flow positive by the end of the year.
- The stock price of Smith and Nephew, a developer and marketer of advanced medical devices, traded lower. The company has three core operating divisions: Orthopedics (knee, hip, shoulder, trauma, and extremities); Sports Medicine and ENT (joint repair, arthroscopic, and ear, nose and throat devices); and Advanced Wound Management (bandages and dressings). We remain positive on the company due to its attractive valuation, good end markets and history of a productive research and development pipeline.

ONE-MONTH KEY PERFORMANCE DRIVERS

	Stocks	Sectors	Countries
HELPED	Rolls-Royce Holdings plc	Industrials (Stock Selection)	France (Stock Selection)
	Allfunds Group plc	Health Care (Stock Selection)	Switzerland (Lack of Exposure)
	ICON Plc	Information Technology (Stock Selection)	Netherlands (Stock Selection)
HURT	Coats Group plc	Consumer Discretionary (Stock Selection)	United Kingdom (Stock Selection)
	Just Eat Takeaway.com N.V.	Energy (Stock Selection)	Norway (Lack of Exposure)
	Ibstock Plc	Real Estate (Overweight)	China (Overweight)

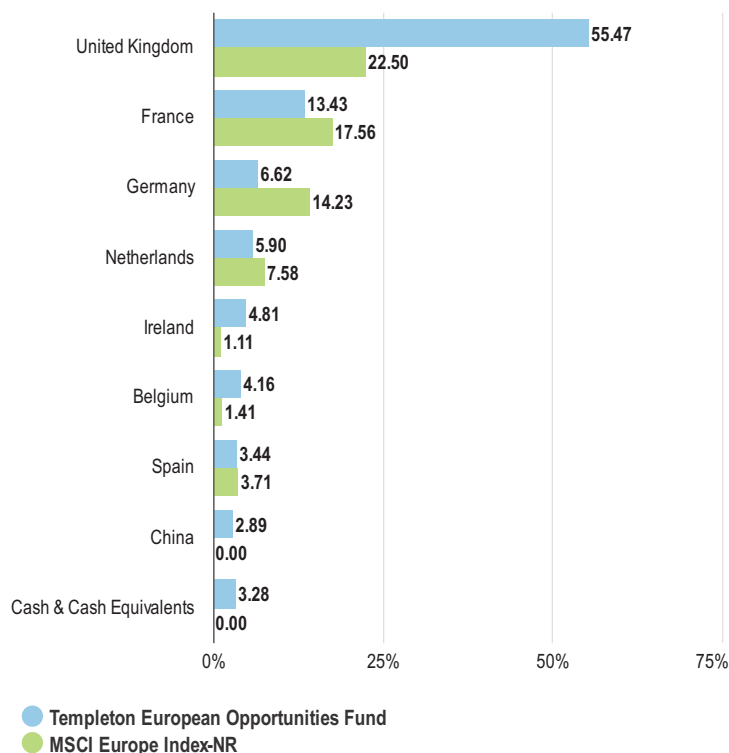

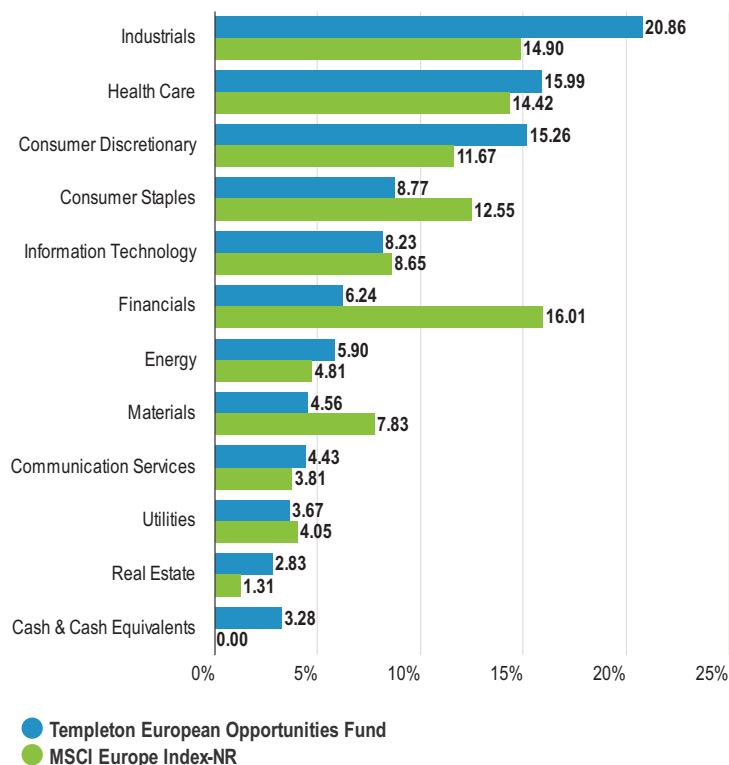

- Allfunds Group is the leading European fund distribution platform offering an open architecture model. The open architecture model, along with a zero-fee structure and early mover advantage, has wide appeal to the changing owner base of private banks, pension funds, wealth managers, fund of funds and retail banks. Longer term, we expect the firm to benefit from strong revenue growth and its more comprehensive service offering.
- ICON is a contract research provider that offers drugmakers around the world a broad range of services for clinical trials including designing studies, recruiting investigators/patients, managing and analysing trial data and assisting with regulatory filings. The contract research industry as a whole has been posting strong results and while the share price of ICON lagged for a few months post its PRA Health Sciences acquisition, sentiment shifted to a more positive view during the quarter.
- Just Eat Takeaway.com (JET) is an online European food delivery company that has a dominant position in Europe with the number one market share position in nearly all of the markets the firm operates in. The company holds a defensible position in its core markets as the low-cost producer and benefits from strong local network effects between restaurants, customers and couriers. Despite reporting a mostly positive business update, JET's stock price underperformed during the period as institutional investors sold shares after FTSE Russell, deciding that Just Eat was a Dutch company, not a British firm, removed it from the FTSE 100.

Outlook & Strategy

- We continue to see attractive investment opportunities in Europe ahead of an expected ramp-up in economic activity. We believe that while the virus continues to weigh on economic growth in 2021, rising vaccination rates should eventually allow economies to reopen more fully. Disbursement from the European Union's recovery fund began this quarter, and we expect those payments could create favourable conditions for long-term investors. We are also monitoring price and wage pressures, with a particular eye on price increases in energy markets. We remain selective in where we see opportunity currently, given the overall exuberance in the market, and are focused on four key areas.
- First, we look for high-quality companies with strong positions in their markets that will benefit from the rebound in economic activity, where valuations remain fair relative to fundamental expectations, in our assessment. We believe that excess savings are likely to shift from buying consumer goods to buying consumer experiences and have positioned our portfolios accordingly. These companies came under pressure again during the second quarter, due to rising concerns about the coronavirus variants, providing us with attractive entry points.
- Second, as rates moved higher, long-duration equities sold off, irrespective of the underlying fundamentals. We are actively looking for good businesses supported by sustained profitable growth and have been successful in initiating positions in a handful of companies at what we consider attractive prices. We have recently reduced our exposure to industrials, while adding exposure to quality companies in the health care and consumer staples sectors. We also believe the small- and mid-cap space offers some compelling opportunities.
- Third, we like companies that are not pure-play ESG companies, but which do have clear plans to become cleaner, healthier versions of themselves. They may also be investing in divisions that are direct beneficiaries of capital allocation into clean energy and better consumer health.
- And finally, the post-Brexit era may also be creating investment opportunities. Although Brexit may raise constrain UK growth, we believe there are excellent investment opportunities in businesses with limited exposure to Brexit costs that sold off with the rest of the UK equity market during the drawn-out negotiations. The UK market remains one of the world's cheapest and many of the country's companies are truly global.
- Our continued efforts towards diversifying and upgrading the quality of the portfolio are intended to help us succeed in the challenging environment ahead. After all, uncertainty can be favourable for active investment managers with a long-term horizon and global opportunity set. We are applying all our energies and talents to uncovering what we view as the best ideas in this environment, and then integrating them into a sensible and balanced portfolio suitable for a future of increasing adversity and complexity.

What Are the Key Risks?

The value of shares in the Fund and income received from it can go down as well as up and investors may not get back the full amount invested. Performance may also be affected by currency fluctuations. Currency fluctuations may affect the value of overseas investments. The Fund invests mainly in equity and equity-related securities of companies of any market capitalisation located in or doing significant business in European countries. Such securities have historically been subject to significant price movements that may occur suddenly due to market or company-specific factors. As a result, the performance of the Fund can fluctuate significantly over relatively short time periods. Other significant risks include: foreign currency risk. For full details of all of the risks applicable to this Fund, please refer to the "Risk Considerations" section of the Fund in the current prospectus of Franklin Templeton Investment Funds.

4. Beta, Information Ratio and Tracking Error information are measured against the MSCI Europe Index-NR.

5. Information Ratio is a way to evaluate a manager's ability to outperform a benchmark in relation to the risk that manager is assuming, with risk defined as deviation from the benchmark. This measure is calculated by dividing the portfolio's excess return (portfolio return less the benchmark return) by the tracking error (derived by taking the standard deviation of the monthly differences between the portfolio return and the benchmark return over time).

Performance figures are not based on audited financial statements and assume reinvestment of interest and dividends. When comparing the performance of Franklin Templeton Investment Funds (the “Fund”) with a benchmark index, it is important to note that the securities in which the Fund invests may be substantially different than those represented by the benchmark index. Furthermore, an investment in Franklin Templeton Investment Funds represents an investment in a managed investment company in which certain charges and expenses, including management fees, are applicable. These charges and expenses are not applicable to indices. Lastly, please note that indices are unmanaged and are not available for direct investment. Certain data and other information shown have been supplied by outside sources.
